PLANTING GUIDE

It's so simple.... Just follow these steps

PLAN

Select trees that grow well in your climate and soil type. Be sure to consider the plant's hardiness zone. Each species has a different tolerance for late spring and early fall frosts, flooding, and drought.

PREPARE

Container grown trees and shrubs can be planted anytime from spring till fall, as long as the ground is thawed. Keep trees and shrubs protected during transport and leave them in a shaded area until planting.

PLANT

- Dig a hole two to three times the width of the root ball but no deeper than the height of the root ball.
- Loosen the soil at the bottom of the hole and fill it one-third full with good quality planting soil.
- Place the tree in the hole.
- Apply MYKE® growth supplement, following the recommendations on the package. New roots must be in contact with MYKE® growth supplement, so make sure to spread it all around the root ball.
- Fill the hole two-thirds full with the soil-fertilizer mix, making sure you press firmly without compacting around the root ball.
- Water to settle the soil.
- Finish filling the hole with the rest of the soil.

WATER

Each tree and shrub species has specific watering requirements so ask a Dutch Growers' Sales Associate for more details.

FERTILIZE

Use recommended fertilizers for trees and shrubs in spring and again at mid-season. Fertilizers help trees grow and withstand drought, disease, and insects. Ask a Dutch Growers' Sales Associate for more details.

STAKE

Staking trees more than one meter tall is recommended the first year in order to prevent breakage due to strong wind or heavy snowfall.

WINTER PROTECTION

Trees or shrubs planted in areas with little snow accumulation or at the edge of their hardiness zone may need good winter protection. Ask a Dutch Growers' Sales Associate for more details.
